Personalized Coordinated Program

The Personalized Coordinated Program consists of 18 units of upper-division coursework chosen in consultation with a faculty advisor from Liberal Studies and directed toward an interdisciplinary problem, theme, or issue. To promote an interdisciplinary approach, students take no more than 9 units of coursework from a single department and no more than 15 units from one of the three Liberal Studies areas: arts & humanities, natural sciences, and social sciences.

Senior Project through Independent Study

Senior Projects consist of written research papers or creative works on topics that relate to the interdisciplinary themes of the Personalized Coordinated Program. The three units of 499 Independent Study are distributed over the last two semesters prior to graduation as follows. In the next to last semester, students take one unit to develop their Senior Project Proposal. In order to register for 499, students need the signed approval of a full-time faculty member at CSUF who has agreed to act as project supervisor, a registration permit from that faculty member's department, and the approval of the student's Liberal Studies advisor. The Senior Project Proposal must include a clear description of the topic, a well-defined research plan, an annotated bibliography, and a specific schedule for the completion of the project, including realistic due dates for drafts or other indications of progress. In the last semester prior to graduation, the project should be completed by taking two more units of 499 with the project supervisor. If unusual circumstances warrant, a student may take all three units of 499 in a single semester with the joint approval of the project supervisor and the Liberal Studies advisor.
